Subject:

Fox hunting - the mission goes on.

Notes:

More experiments with PIR camera traps and flash. Beginning to understand the Canon flash system better. The Triggerscout PIR remains totally unreliable and the batteries drain within a couple of hours.

From the Camtrap footage I think there are three foxes visiting each night, a young fox with very large ears, an older skinny looking fox wearing what appear to be black boots under the infra red and a fox with what looks to be a damage tail.

This shot was rather unexpected but brings me joy. I think it is my youngster.
